

This was once the site of a thriving Model T Ford sub-dealership specializing in "Auto Tracs", TT Model Ford trucks and Fordson tractors.

During the great depression era, when agriculture's success was dependent on self-reliance and innovation, converting Model T cars into Auto Tractors was a big business.

Making use of this double duty vehicle helped many farmers survive the economic downturn and go on to achieve success once the economy recovered.

